OPERATIONS

Operational Review of the Quarter

Infront's revenues decreased by EUR 0.7 million to EUR 34.5 million in Q1 2026 (Q1 2025: EUR 35.2 million). This includes subscription-based, volume-based, stock exchange content fees and project revenues. Adjusted EBITDA decreased by EUR 2.8 million to EUR 7.9 million (Q1 2025: EUR 10.7 million). The adjusted EBITDA decline was mainly driven by EUR 0.7 million decline in revenue and EUR 1.8 million increase in operating expenses due to the business investing in personnel and specific operating costs to drive future growth.

Starting from Q1 2026, Infront categorised its products into three core groups: "Data Intelligence", "Trading & Investor Solutions" and "Portfolio Management & Advisory". For a detailed description of the updated product breakdown, please refer to Note 2.

Data Intelligence

Q1 marked a significant step forward for our Data Intelligence Business line, both in terms of platform expansion and strategic market positioning.

We substantially broadened our capabilities beyond traditional asset managers and ManCos, extending our reach into the custodian banking segment. By continuously enhancing our regulatory-compliant valuation platform with parameterised, fully scalable end-to-end workflows, we successfully initiated the first production use cases in this area in Q1, validating both the scalability of the platform and the growing market demand for integrated valuation intelligence solutions.

Within the regulatory domain, we further expanded our document generation and regulatory calculation engines to support upcoming UK and continental European regulatory frameworks. In parallel, we finalised a major extension of our front-end regulatory document solution, enabling it to support distribution and sales processes for one of Germany's largest banking institutions. This development significantly strengthens our positioning by transforming regulatory workflows into a competitive, customer-facing capability that can be leveraged across similar large-scale banking and distribution environments.

Another major milestone in Q1 was the close collaboration between our Quantitative Risk teams, Portfolio Management Solutions and our Market Intelligence Solutions unit. Together, we further advanced our integrated risk solution, including dynamic risk reporting capabilities designed to support investment decision-making as well as continuous monitoring of market and credit risk exposures. These capabilities lead to first customer deliveries and onboarding activities. To further address the increasing need for unified investor workflows, we interconnected the Application Programming Interfaces ("APIs") of our portfolio management systems with our risk and market intelligence solutions, creating a significantly more scalable and integrated investment ecosystem.

In the Feed Solutions area, we designed the concept of a scalable and future-proof treasury delivery channel designed to support large-scale strategic business cases and evolving client requirements. At the same time, we continued investing into our core infrastructure and data backbone. Q1 saw a new record in processed data volumes and messaging updates, reflecting both the increasing scale of our platform and the continuously growing amount of market and reference data delivered to customers globally.

Within our Market Intelligence Solutions offering, we extended the discovery and testing the capabilities of our AI-driven, model-agnostic assistant. This now goes beyond just summarisation and contextual visualisation by enabling users to establish dedicated workspaces and support a broad range of investment-driven workflows. This represents an important step toward AI-enabled financial intelligence environments that combine data, analytics, workflows, and user interaction within a unified ecosystem.

Trading & Investor Solutions

Q1 represented a meaningful phase of advancement for our Trading & Investor Solutions business line, with continued progress in strengthening the platform and enhancing our positioning as a provider of integrated trading and execution capabilities.

Over the course of the quarter, we further evolved our trading ecosystem through targeted enhancements across both web-based and institutional environments. These included improvements in trading workflows, analytics integration, and client self-service functionalities, enabling more efficient execution processes while embedding richer insights directly within the trading experience.

A central priority in Q1 was the continued reinforcement of platform performance. Through the structured reduction of technical backlog, targeted remediation of legacy constraints, and focused quality improvements, we materially improved platform reliability and resilience. This work provides the foundation for scaling transaction volumes and delivering consistently high-quality user experience across client segments.

In parallel, we made further progress in deepening the integration between trading functionality and the broader product landscape. By strengthening the interaction between trading, market data, analytics, and portfolio workflows, we are enabling a more cohesive and efficient investment lifecycle, allowing clients to transition seamlessly from insight generation to execution within a unified environment.

Additional enhancements within our institutional offering included improvements in order management capabilities, trade monitoring, and administrative interfaces, enabling more efficient handling of complex and high-volume trading scenarios while supporting deeper integration into client infrastructures.

Furthermore, we continued the discovery and testing of AI-driven capabilities within trading-related processes, exploring use cases that combine market intelligence, analytics, and execution support. These developments will contribute to the emergence of more intelligent trading environments that enhance decision-making efficiency and operational effectiveness.

Taken together, the progress achieved in Q1 demonstrates a clear trajectory towards a more scalable, resilient, and fully integrated trading platform. By combining platform stabilisation with continuous innovation and deeper ecosystem integration, Trading & Investor Solutions is well positioned to support future growth and evolving client demands.

Portfolio Management & Advisory

Q1 represented an important inflection point for our Portfolio & Advisory business line, characterised by decisive progress in enhancing our core platforms, Assetmax and Infront Portfolio Manager, modernising core capabilities, and establishing the foundations for a more scalable and integrated Wealth Management offering.

Throughout the quarter, we placed a strong emphasis on reinforcing the technical robustness and reliability of the platforms, successfully delivering key system upgrades, targeted functional enhancements, and a structured reduction of technical debt.

In parallel, we made substantial progress in advancing the next phase of platform modernisations. This includes ongoing initiatives focused on performance optimisation, user interface renewal, and the preparation of next-generation advisory capabilities, all designed to improve usability, streamline workflows, and enhance the overall client experience.

A particular area of focus has been the enhancement of core system performance. Initiatives targeting significant improvements in batch processing, rebalancing, and order routing are expected to deliver meaningful gains in efficiency and responsiveness, directly addressing key client requirements and contributing to reduced operational friction.

At the same time, we continued to strengthen the integration of Portfolio Management & Advisory within the wider product landscape. By enabling closer interaction between portfolio management, data intelligence, trading, and risk capabilities, we are building a more cohesive and scalable investment ecosystem. This enhanced connectivity supports the development of more sophisticated, data-driven advisory workflows and opens the path towards future AI-enabled client experiences.

Overall, Q1 reflects a disciplined and well-structured execution of our transformation agenda within Portfolio Management & Advisory. By combining platform stabilisation with targeted modernisation and deeper ecosystem integration, the business line is well positioned to deliver improved client outcomes and sustainable growth over the medium term.

Note 2 – Segment Information

From the date of acquisition by DASH BidCo in 2021, Infront Group is considered by the board of Infront AS as one reporting segment. Disaggregation of Revenues

Infront’s total revenue is disaggregated into major revenue streams by geographical areas and by product segments shown in the tables below.

The Group's revenues are subscription-based revenues which are recognised on a monthly recurring basis, as well as solution subscription revenue which is recognised at the initial setup of the service and thereafter as recurring subscription revenue.

Contract assets and liabilities vary to an extent throughout the reporting period. Most customers are invoiced in advance on a monthly, quarterly, or annual basis for the subscriptions. Other services are typically invoiced monthly in arrears of the service being rendered. Contract liabilities (deferred income) are therefore related to the advance fees received on a monthly, quarterly, or annual basis from customers. Customers have payment terms varying from 14-45 days.
